

FAILURE OF AIRPLANES HAS BEEN SOURCE OF DISAPPOINTMENT TO ALLIES, SAYS EDWARD BROWN

That the allied forces, combatting Germany were sorely disappointed by the failure of America's airplane program, was a statement made today by Edward Brown, F. L. S., who spoke in the Weber club at noon at the Round Table. Mr. Brown did not make the statement publicly, but declared that the failure of this country to send the expected 5000 planes by the middle of May had caused a keen disappointment to the allies and had forced them to abandon the cherished spring air-drive against Germany.

In his address at the Weber club, Professor Brown made a strong plea for increased production and decreased consumption. In opening, he sketched several of the great questions which had entered into Great Britain's decision to take up the sword against Germany. If Germany had beaten England and France, he said, she was to have demanded part of Canada as indemnity, and then her campaign at the heart of America would have started from this advantageous place.

He said that England had entered the war with a complete understanding of the tremendous sacrifice which would result and that up to the first of 1918 she had lost 750,000 of her best manhood. But she was yet undefeated and was determined to carry the war through to a successful conclusion in order that these men might not have died in vain. With America's help, Professor Brown said, the allies would yet be victorious.

He drew attention to the necessity for aid during the reconstruction period and declared all resources would have to be combined to readjust conditions after the devastation of the war.

Professor Brown was entertained in Ogden by Postmaster W. W. Brown, Mayor T. Samuel Browning, Prof. Byron Alder of the Utah Agricultural college, members of the farm bureau and the Weber club.

DANA EQUALLY FAMOUS ON STAGE AND SCREEN NEW NORWEGIAN LINER AWAITED

Still In Her 'Teens, Youthful Star Is the Idol of Millions.

Viola Dana, winsome little star of "Riders of the Night," a Metro All-Star series picture, which will be presented at the Utah theatre today, was born in Brooklyn, but later moved to New York where she was educated.

Her success on both the stage and screen has been phenomenal. "The Poor Little Rich Girl," in which she created the title role, was one of her famous achievements, and so popular was the play that it had a record-breaking run on Broadway for over two years.

On the screen Miss Dana has been even more successful than on the stage, notably in "Blue Jeans," a screen version of the world's greatest melodrama, which has become an American classic.

Her stage debut was made at the early age of 5 when she appeared before the public as a toe-dancer. Later she played the part of Little Hendrick in "Rip Van Winkle," with Thomas Jefferson, the famous actor, who was so keenly interested in the little actress's career that he devoted much time to her dramatic training.

Her first picture appearance was with the Edison company in "Mollie, the Drummer Boy," but her best screen work has been with the Metro company, in such big productions as "The Flower of No Man's Land," "The Gates of Eden," "Threads of Fate," "The Mortal Sin," "God's Law and Man's," "Lady Barnacle," "Aladdin's Other Lamp," "The Girl Without a Soul," "The Winding Trail," "A Weaver of Dreams," and "Breakers Ahead."

Viola Dana is one of the youngest and most popular of motion picture stars, being barely 18. She is, nevertheless, known and loved wherever pictures are shown.

J. P. O'NEILL CO. TO REPAIR STREET

The city commission this morning adopted a report of City Recorder W. S. Critchlow, concerning his effort to bring to the attention of the J. P. O'Neill Construction company the necessity for the repairing of the paving on Lincoln avenue, from Twenty-fourth street to Ogden river on the north.

Mr. Critchlow read to the commissioners a letter which he had received from the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company which furnished the bond for the construction company. The letter announced that the matter had been taken up by the surety company with the construction company and that the latter had agreed to do the repairing at once.

The commission had considered the matter of the condition of the paving on Lincoln avenue, at a meeting some time ago, when a report of the city engineer advised that the paving was bad and should be repaired by the construction company under its contract with the city.

FIRST WOMAN IN THE RAILWAY MAIL SERVICE

Miss Dorothy Taylor, who has been for some time a temporary clerk of the railway mail service, yesterday received notice of formal appointment as a full-fledged clerk of the mail service, according to an announcement made this morning at the local district headquarters at the federal building by Assistant Chief Clerk A. A. Imus of District No. 1 of the Eighth division.

Miss Taylor is in fact the first woman to receive appointment to the United States Railway Mail Service, her appointment having been made some time ago and approved pending the unwinding of the red tape necessary to make the appointment of official record. A woman was appointed to a like position at the San Francisco office, shortly after the announcement of the appointment of Miss Taylor. In both cases the young ladies are assigned to clerical work at the headquarters office of their districts.

Miss Taylor has established a record for efficiency of which many of the older clerks would be proud. In a supplementary examination taken by her yesterday, she passed with a record of 100 per cent, thus adding another record to her list. In the examination yesterday she took the card-reading test for eight minutes, reading fifty cards a minute for that time. She was given credit of 100 per cent for schemes of distribution in the test yesterday. The officials speak very highly of Miss Taylor and predict that she will advance in her chosen work very rapidly.

FIRE PROVES UPSET TO THE BUSINESS DISTRICT

Several industrial plants of Ogden and vicinity were put out of commission this morning by the fire which destroyed the sub-station of the Utah Power & Light company and the Bamberger electric railroad's barn and sheds at the corner of Lincoln avenue and Thirty-first street. Printing shops, laundries, the telephone company and several smaller concerns were all forced to suspend operations while a large force of workmen were engaged in clearing the lines and restoring power service.

The Standard's plant was unable to get started on the day's work until near 12 o'clock, which occasioned the delay in getting the paper out. The Examiner kindly extended assistance, which was accepted.

Besides the serious trouble caused to industrial concerns, there was much inconvenience caused in homes. As these are times of daylight saving, however, everyone in the city stood the inconvenience with a smiling countenance and laid it to the war.

OLD MAN IS TEMPTED AND FALLS FROM GRACE

Edward McMahon was fined $50 in the municipal court this morning after pleading to being drunk yesterday. When he was asked, "How do you plead—guilty or not guilty?" he replied that he did not know how to plead, but he guessed he was a little guilty. He said he was never drunk before in his life and was never arrested for any cause.

The defendant was a man of about 50 years of age and he was told by Assistant City Attorney Stine that it is a poor time to begin drinking at his time in life and after the state had gone dry, McMahon admitted to drinking whiskey but claimed that a young fellow had met him and taken him to the "jungle" in the willows and given him the liquor. He said he was standing in front of a shoe shop, having just had a pair of shoes repaired, when the strange young man came along and asked him to go with him. He followed meekly, according to his own testimony, and when they were safely screened by the growth of willows down near the river, the young man piled him with several drinks of liquor—the first he had ever taken in his whole life.

In describing the scene of his enticement and fall from grace, after living for a half century without submitting to the temptations of strong drink, McMahon pictured something of a Garden of Eden, except that it was a young man and now the world's first snake charmer that tempted him to partake of the forbidden juice.

Judge Barker looked the man over several times after he had finished his story and then pronounced the fine with the alternative of spending 30 days in jail in case the defendant should find it inconvenient to pay the fine.

WHEN AUTOMOBILES MAY PASS STANDING STREET CARS

W. C. Binford, of the Binford-Kimball Motor company, was before the municipal court this morning on a charge of violating the traffic laws by driving past a street car which had stopped to discharge passengers. From the testimony in the case, it developed that there is a confusing practice concerning the closing of car doors which makes it difficult for an autoist to know just when he may proceed. After hearing the evidence, Judge Barker said that it seemed that there was really a technical violation of the traffic ordinance, but not a willful one, and that, therefore, he would impose a suspended sentence.

Mr. Binford stated the facts as he knew them, after two witnesses had testified against him, and the facts in the main were not changed. It was shown that the rear car door had been closed and to all appearances the street car was ready to proceed when Mr. Binford went past. Judge Barker stated that he had held that it was not a violation to pass a street car simply because it was standing on the track; that it was only a violation when the car was stopped to take on or discharge passengers, though the judge advised great caution on the part of autoists in passing street cars at any time.

OGDEN TRADE MARK SEEN IN DISTANT FRANCE

From Ogden to a sign post in France is a long way, but famous products go long distances, says Orson C. Chapple, of Ogden, a member of Battery "C," 148th field artillery, American Expeditionary Forces, who has written to J. S. Carver, his former employer, telling of an unusual incident. Accompanying the letter was a bit of paste-board bearing a sign of the Utah Cereal Food company's "Sunrise" oats, which Private Chapple says he took from a French sign board. His letter follows:

"Somewhere in France, April 13, 1918. Mr. J. S. Carver, Ogden, Dear Sir: You may be somewhat surprised to hear from me, but I just could not resist the temptation to write to you and send a piece of the straw board paper that you use in packing the 'Sunrise' oats. The fame and popularity of 'Sunrise' products seems to be very far-reaching, for, as I was walking along the street, the famous trade mark caught my eye. It loomed up as large as the setting sun and I knew it immediately. We often see Heinz's, American Express, and Pillsbury's famous Gold Medal flour trademarks, but this is the first time I ever saw 'Sunrise' in France. How it came here I do not know, but it proves the benefit of advertising. Truly yours, (Signed) Orson C. Chapple."

ago to appraise two bodies of timber standing on national forests in that section which were about to be sold to some of the large lumber concerns. Mr. Seerey reports great activity in the lumber industry in the northwest. The logging engineer was assigned to the work at Portland, although that is not under the jurisdiction of District No. 4.

NICARAGUA NOW AT WAR WITH GERMANY

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, May 7.—The Nicaraguan congress today declared war on Germany and her allies.

The declaration of war was adopted by congress at the suggestion of President Chamorro with only four dissenting votes.

Congress also adopted a declaration of solidarity with the United States and the other American republics at war with Germany and Austria and authorized the president to take steps to utilize to a full measure the nation's forces in the war.

Nicaragua's action follows that of its neighbor, Guatemala, which last month declared war on Germany. Nicaragua severed relations with Germany a year ago.

It is the twentieth nation which has declared war against Germany.
